Stennis Raps U. S. Role In Indochina

Wilson Thinks French Forces To Halt Rebels

By Wilnot Hercher
Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson reiterated yesterday the United States is not sending combat troops to Indochina, but Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) declared in the Senate "we are riding hard on the road that will lead to direct intervention" in the war there.

Stennis criticized the Eisenhower administration for deciding to send about 200 Air Force technicians to Indochina without consulting the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member.

He said there are plenty of French mechanics capable of servicing the aircraft the United States has made available to France to fight the Communist Vietminh forces. He insisted the Americans be brought back "at the earliest possible date."

Those who approve of sending Air Force technicians to the Asian battleground, Stennis said, also ought to advocate a bigger army, more taxes and extension of the draft "so we will have the power to carry through on a policy which we are making inch by inch."

Wilson, discussing the Indochina situation at a news conference, predicted the French and loyal native forces probably would win a military victory unless there is intervention by the Red Chinese or a similar change in the situation.

Later he prepared a statement for radio and television, saying in part, "the equipment which we have sent to Indochina is highly technical so we are sending technicians as a temporary training force."

"We are sending planes but no pilots. We are not sending combat troops."

Wilson told newsmen the war against the Reds "is going fully as well as we and the French expected it to at this stage." He added he had no reason to think Indochina would become another Korea.

Newsmen interpreted his remarks as meaning that he saw no need for sending extensive American forces against the Red Vietminh army, as was done against the Communists in Korea.

Taylor Refuses To Endorse Judges Rhodes, Ross For Reelection To Superior Court

Harrisburg (AP) — Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, came out yesterday against endorsement of Democratic Judges Chester H. Rhodes, of Stroudsburg, and F. Clair Ross, of the state Superior Court, in this year's election.

"I couldn't be Republican state chairman and vote for Democrats when I haven't voted for one in 56 years," Taylor told reporters.

"That's my personal feeling but I'd say it's the general opinion of Republicans all over Pennsylvania except in Philadelphia and a few other places."

Taylor commented on the "sitting judge principle" of both parties endorsing judges up for reelection. Gov. John S. Fine indicated at Republican state-making conferences he favored the principle but GOP leaders have taken no action as a body on the question.

"Who am I," Taylor asked, "to bind the Republican party to any agreement like that with the opposition party? What assurance do we have that the Democrats, two, four or six years from now will keep a bargain of that kind? They would tell us then we can't control it."

"As state chairman I have no right to make any such agreement and nobody else has. The party belongs to the people and not a few persons."

Two Republicans already have announced their candidacy for the state Superior Court. They are Sens. John M. Walker, Allentown, and Murray Peeler, Indiana.

Both Judges Rhodes and Ross are expected to run for reelection to another 10-year term this year on the appellate court.

Judge Robert E. Woodside, named to the court by Gov. Fine, has been endorsed by GOP party leaders for a full term.

Vietminh Only Eight Miles From Capital

By Max Clos
Luang Prabang, Laos (AP) — Spearheads of the Communist-led Vietminh rebels advanced to within eight miles of Luang Prabang yesterday. The French Union defenders dug in deeper to meet any all-out assault of the royal Lao-Lao capital.

The bulk of Vietminh's crack Division 308, slicing across Laos toward the Thailand border, was reported about 30 miles away. No direct attack on the city was foreseen for several days.

Some military leaders expressed belief the Vietminh may not attack Luang Prabang, despite the menacing advance of the last week. They view the rebel campaign as having more of a political than a military purpose. The rebels advanced toward the royal capital last May, only to pull away without attacking.

These military men believe the Vietminh has no chance of taking Luang Prabang with the estimated 12,000 men committed to the offensive. They said the rebels may have two other objectives:

One—Make the French pull back the forces with which they have been operating for two months in the Hou and Soung River Valley approaches to Luang Prabang.

Two—Establish closer contact for the rebels between the Red Chinese frontier to the north and Burma and Thailand to the south and west.

French Union troops have been in contact for two days with Vietminh guerrillas preparing the road for regular units and strengthening their supply connections. The bulk of Division 308 is advancing on Luang Prabang along the Hou Valley and French planes have noted many rebel rafts descending that river.

Union troops pulling back toward Luang Prabang are leaving a scorched earth behind them. They have evacuated villages in the path of the rebel advance and burned them along with their stocks of rice in an effort to cripple Vietminh supply.

The rebels depend largely on thousands of pack-carrying coolies strung out in a thin line over jungle paths to the north-east.

Allied officials have charged the Communists with an illegal military buildup before, but the command action made it official.

A full investigation by mobile inspection teams, starting within 48 hours, was requested in a letter sent the Communist high command by Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, senior Allied member of the Joint Military Armistice Commission.

Lacey charged that combat material other than planes also was illegally brought in by truck and train.

The armistice permits replacements and repairs but no build-ups.

Cow Succeeds As Men Fail

Rome (AP) — A lone bull wandered in from the country last night. He charged up a main street and sent pedestrians fleeing in panic, butting two of them. He then dashed into a garage and bowled over a taxi.

Firemen corner him in the garage, but couldn't get him out. Then somebody brought a cow. She led the bull meekly back to the farm.

Seventy-seven A&P employees of four regional stores signed for unemployment claims with the Pennsylvania State Employment Service this week, following closing of doors at the stores Saturday.

Three of the stores are located in Monroe County and the other in Portland, Northampton County. At the East Stroudsburg PSES office, 70 clerks from Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Mount Pocono stores signed up. This total included part-time help, it was learned.

The company had offered a 10-cent-an-hour wage boost and the union had demanded 15 cents. A company spokesman said the 12-cent general figure apparently was a compromise agreement. He added there were many classifications and that the boosts varied a great deal.

Washington (AP) — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill providing $681,769,703 to keep the government's farm price support program going for the next few weeks.

The vote was 49-10. The House had passed the compromise measure earlier in the day, by voice vote.

Striking Warehouse Workers Accept 12-Cent Pay Boost; Chain To Reopen 153 Stores

Scranton (AP) — The nine-day strike of warehousemen at the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. was settled yesterday and the company plans to reopen its 153 stores in Northeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New York Friday morning.

Local 229, General Drivers and Helpers Union, negotiated a contract that includes a 12-cent-an-hour general wage increase and adjustments in working conditions. Robert Malloy, union business agent, said the contract includes an additional five-cent hourly increase for about 40 per cent of the employees by upgrading classifications.

The 200 striking warehousemen voted at a meeting yesterday to accept the new contract and end the walkout that began at midnight, Feb. 1. Previous wage scales were not disclosed.

A&P closed its store in the area involved on Saturday night, idling some 2,000 clerks and other store employees. The company said it was forced to close because of its inability to ship goods to the stores.

Malloy also said "a definite understanding" was reached on seniority and promotions. He said the contract provides for payment of double time instead of time and a half for work on the seventh consecutive day.

W. J. Kane, general superintendent for the A&P in northeastern Pennsylvania and southern New York, issued the following statement:

"Shipments of fresh merchandise will be rushed to our stores so that we can reopen complete stocks of perishable and other goods by Friday morning. All of our stores which were closed temporarily will be open at 8:30 a. m. Friday. We regret any inconvenience that may have existed because of the strike."

"We are naturally happy that an agreement has been reached, that our warehouse operations can be resumed immediately and that all our employees can return to their jobs."

The company had offered a 10-cent-an-hour wage boost and the union had demanded 15 cents. A company spokesman said the 12-cent general figure apparently was a compromise agreement. He added there were many classifications and that the boosts varied a great deal.

Washington (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Administration, pressing its month-old charge of careless flying against radio-TV star Arthur Godfrey, asked yesterday that his pilot's certificate be suspended for at least 30 days.

The CAA said its recommendation to the Civil Aeronautics Board gave "due consideration, as a mitigating factor," to Godfrey's "past good record."

Nevertheless, said S. W. Bobbitt, regional attorney for the CAA in New York City, public interest requires "no less action" than suspension for at least 30 days and thereafter until Godfrey obtains a proper CAA medical certificate.

Godfrey, who has waived a hearing, was given 10 days in which to reply.

Molotov To Present New 'European Security' Plan In Attempt To Booby-Trap West's EDC

Berlin (AP) — Soviet Russia, striving to wreck the Western defense alliance, declared last night it will present a new plan for "European security" to the Big Four conference here today.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, who had refused at a secret session Monday to get the Korean peace conference started on United Nations terms, yesterday kept the foreign ministers in a futile deadlock on Germany.

In sharply worded exchanges with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Eden, the Soviet foreign minister disclosed he would offer a new Communist security plan in an attempt to kill off the European Defense Community.

Rehashing Communist arguments since a six-nation European army including West German units was envisaged in 1950, Molotov said EDC was a "preparation for war" against his country.

He ignored Eden when the latter reiterated Britain's offer to extend the 20-year British-Soviet pact against German aggression beyond its expiration date in 1963 in order to ally Russian forces.

There were briefings on yesterday's meeting, and statements of the ministers were released for publication, in contrast to Monday's secret session.

There was no expectation in the Western diplomatic camp last night that the new Communist security plan would be more than another booby trap to weaken free Europe.

Molotov clung tenaciously to all his demands of last week for "neutralization" of a unified Germany with Communists at the governmental helm.

Their patience frayed, Dulles, Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault sought unsuccessfully to persuade Molotov to end the hopeless East-West quarrel here over Germany and EDC.

After renewed debate today on this bogged down issue, the Big Four will hold another secret session Thursday on Russia's proposal for a Big Five conference with Red China, and divergent Russian and French resolutions for a world armament policy.

The ministers agreed also to take up the long delayed Austrian independence treaty on Friday.

Experts Foresee High Incomes, Heavy Buying, Stable Prices

By Douglas B. Cornell
Washington (AP) — Six economic experts predicted to Congress yesterday that Americans will enjoy high incomes and do a lot of buying at fairly stable prices in 1954.

The experts gave this generally optimistic forecast amid these related developments:

One—The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a drop of two million workers on the payrolls of industry, transportation, government and trade between December and January—but non-farm employment—(47,700,000) was the largest ever reported for the month of January except in 1953.

Two—The Commerce Department reported that total business inventories (stocks), which President Eisenhower has blamed for the current economic slow-down, were shrinking at the end of 1953. The department said, however, that sales declined in the last quarter of the year at about the same rate as inventories dwindled.

Eisenhower said in his economic message to Congress last month that if sales stay high enough to cut down inventories, production would swing up again and the current business dip would "soon come to a halt."

On Capitol Hill, a group of economic authorities testified that people may not spend as much as they did at the 1953 peak, but there is little reason for any panicky alarm over the outlook for the year ahead.

A. W. Zelonek, president of the International Statistical Bureau, Inc., of New York, told a Senate-House committee studying President Eisenhower's economic report to Congress:

"I do not agree with the prospects of doom."

Yet there was a cautioning note from Gerhard Colm, chief econ-

VFW Post Seeks 315 New Members

A drive for "100 per cent membership" is now being waged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Stroudsburg.

According to Lawrence Zaccaro, membership chairman for the 1954 drive, the need for strong backing in Monroe County is especially strong this year since local VFW leader Elmer Christine is now serving as state VFW commander.

The local post needs 315 members to bring its total up to the desired 1065, Zaccaro said.

Former members who have let their membership lag, he added, need only pay the current year's dues in order to again become members.

Plans have been completed for a luncheon at Chariton's Lodge, East Stroudsburg RD2 at 12:15 p.m. Monday to familiarize local residents with a one-week driver-training program slated for East Stroudsburg Senior High School students beginning that day.

Jack P. Kist, faculty member and director of driver education at the school, said the course is designed to promote safety on the highways.

The week-long program will include a five-mile driving test through local traffic, psycho-physical tests, emergency stopping demonstrations and a grading system.

The performance of each student will be recorded on a standardized road test form developed at Pennsylvania State University. Kist said.

E. Holt Wyckoff Jr. was elected president of the board of directors of the Monroe County YMCA last night at the meeting at the Wyckoff tearoom. Directors and trustees were also chosen at the meeting. Mr. Wyckoff succeeds Dayton W. Frankenfield, who desired to be relieved of the duties of the office he filled for a number of years.

Directors elected for three-year terms follow: A. F. Everitt, Dr. J. F. Noonan, Charles A. Keiper, Clifford R. Gilliam, Merle C. Ostrom, Jesse S. Flory, J. L. Cohen, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray and Arthur Fry. Cohen and Fry are new members.

Alex L. Bensinger and Joseph W. Kovarik Jr. were elected to fill vacancies for two-year terms. C. R. Bensinger and E. H. Wyckoff Sr. resigned and were elected honorary members of the board.

The trustees elected were: Rev. F. H. Blatt, M. S. Baldwin, Henry Evans, Claude W. Leister and Horace G. Walters.

Officers re-elected to serve with Wyckoff, new president, follow: First vice president, J. Albert Groner; second vice president, Edward C. Hess; secretary, C. A. Keiper; and treasurer, Roy M. Houser.

Dr. Noonan, chairman of the building committee, in his report stated there was no change in the situation connected with the construction of the new building halted by a work stoppage since last September.

Treasurer Houser gave reports on the various funds and F. L. Stackhouse and A. W. Williams were named a committee to advise on reinvestment of funds from government bonds which will reach maturity this coming May. Joseph Wallace was chosen to audit the accounts of the treasurer for the year 1953.

Rev. Blatt gave the eulogy and prayer on the death of Fred C. Patzinger, for many years a board member and who served some 12 years as president of the board. This token of respect and appreciation of community services preceded the business session of the board.

Mr. Ostrom reported on the observance of National YMCA Week for which special folders were furnished churches for their weekly bulletins and cooperation. Lack of a building, he said, interfered with carrying out projects suggested for the week.

John R. Wilson, general secretary, said a meeting will be held at Skyline Inn, Mount Pocono, Thursday night, Feb. 18, when further steps were to be taken in the formation of a Mount Pocono branch of the parent Y. Preliminary meetings have been held and he said there are hopes to get it started soon.

Mention was made by Wilson of various youth activities under the direction of Charlton C. Chopp, Y director of the same. These included presentation of charters to four Hi-Y clubs at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church Jan. 15.

The general secretary also reported four teams operating in the Senior Y basketball league representing 32 players, and biddy basketball under Samuel S. Everitt with six teams and some 50 lads playing the game each Saturday from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

There are 350 young people taking part in the Y youth program. Wilson said, with 658 taking part in activities during January.

The annual meeting will be held Tuesday night, March 9, at a place to be announced. Reports from all the youth groups will be presented at that time and directors will be accompanied by their wives and lady friends. It will be a dinner meeting.

On relinquishing the duties of the presidency, Mr. Frankenfield expressed his appreciation for the cooperation given him and complimented the new president on his being chosen for the office. Tribute was also expressed for the fine work of E. H. Wyckoff in behalf of the Y over the years and regrets on his resignation. President Holt Wyckoff pledged his earnest efforts to carry on the work efficiently.

Those in attendance at the meeting follow: D. W. Frankenfield, president; C. A. Keiper, A. F. Everitt, Mrs. W. R. Toewe, Mrs. Clifford Heller, James H. Groner, J. Albert Groner, E. Holt Wyckoff Jr., Dr. J. F. Noonan, A. W. Williams, Theodore D. Hoffman, Edward C. Hess, Merle C. Ostrom, Roy M. Houser, A. J. Zabriskie, James T. Kitson, Rev. F. H. Blatt, Thomas Kistler and General Secretary Wilson.

Jury Convicts Robert Getz Of Involuntary Manslaughter In Traffic Death Of Woman

Robert Getz, 22, Allentown, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in Monroe County court yesterday.

The jury deliberated an hour and a half before returning the verdict.

The jury recommended clemency.

The case stemmed from the accident at Tobyhanna last April in which Mrs. Asa English, 70, Gouldsboro, was injured fatally.

Mrs. English was riding in a car driven by her husband, 78. Getz was driving a south-bound car which collided head-on with the English vehicle.

In a full day of testimony Monday, Getz said he passed a south-bound bus and moved into the north-bound lane to do so. The English car came out of the Signal Corps Depot road and entered Route 611. As the English car swung northward, the two autos came together.

Two passengers in Getz' car were injured along with the driver. Neither testified during the trial. English and Pte. James M. Horan of the Mount Pocono State police station testified for the prosecution, which was directed by District Attorney Elmer D. Christine.

Christine and defense counsel Leo Achterman presented their closing arguments to the jury of seven men and five women in the morning. Then President Judge Fred W. Davis charged the jury. The jury returned the verdict about 3:10 p. m. Attorney Achterman moved for an arrested judgment and new trial. If such a motion were granted, it would in effect set aside the finding of guilty.

Achterman based his motion on alleged imperfections in the record of the case.

Until a ruling is made on Ach-

Another directed verdict, in the case of Homer Young, Edith F. Young and Andrew G. Bond, versus Roy Ealey Jr., defendant, with Homer Young as additional defendant, resulted in the following findings by the jury:

In favor of Roy Ealey Jr., as defendant, represented by G. T. Robinson and James Kitchen, and in favor of Homer Young as additional defendant; and in favor of Homer Young on the counter-claim of Ealey. Plaintiffs were represented by Forrest J. Mervine.

The accident occurred in November, 1952, a two-car collision at a bridge in Hamilton Township.

The marriage rate in the United States reached an all-time high of 16.2 per 1000 population in 1946.

The Touch of the Tax

Taxation without representation, as James Otis said, is tyranny.

But the delusion of representation without taxation, applied to enough people, could also be productive of tyranny.

For the knowledge of taxation is quite as important, in a democratic system, as the taxation itself. The fewer number of individuals who pay taxes knowingly, the less representative the Government is likely to be.

The surest way to arouse an individual's interest in public policies is to make it possible for him to see them in relation to his own pocketbook. Hidden taxes, while exacting a heavy toll from that same pocketbook, tend to deaden the interest, rather than enliven it.

It is with these thoughts in mind that we consider with concern proposals now being boomed in Congress and in the Federal Internal Revenue Service.

The revenue collectors are promoting a plan which would relieve some 35 million taxpayers of the annual chore of filing an income tax return. This scheme would simplify the tax collector's bookkeeping and perhaps have other advantages.

But it would reduce tax consciousness to a minimum—in many cases to zero.

The privilege of voting in this country is universal (outside the District of Columbia). The responsibility for maintaining the Government is an essential corollary.

By destroying tax consciousness—through devices for making it painless—the politicians not only seek to increase their popularity, but to lull a majority of the voters into an attitude of indifference toward their Government.

Atoms for Peace

President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Wilson are in agreement that there is too much saber rattling in connection with discussion of the atomic arms race. The President wants the country, including government officials, to quiet down and bring an end to hysterical talk.

There are enough good things about the atom to make conversation for a long time. There is power for peace, curative power, limitless uses to which the atom can be put if the President's dramatic proposal for an atomic pool for peaceful purposes comes into being.

Latest good news about the atom comes from Washington, where the Atomic Energy Commission announces it will use the atom to heat a number of capital buildings.

If the men of the Kremlin can be made to understand and accept the fact that we are not expending all our efforts and knowledge on building weapons of destruction, but rather working to prove the great value of the atom in peaceful uses, perhaps the evil that could drive them to another mad adventure would vanish. Then the evil side of the atom could be cut away and the good could grow and endure.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Strike It Plenty Good.

M.C.—Folks, I'm sure you'll be glad to know that on the last program when we had Eliza and Little Eva here, we raised enough money to buy off the bloodhounds and clear the river of ice. Eliza also won a sleigh, a chart of two-dozen rivers, a milk coat and a $2,000 ice-breaker. Tonight we have a wonderful little woman on the program, and her story is a sad one. What's your name?

The Guest—Cinderella. I'm so scared.

M.C.—Don't be nervous. Relax and tell us your story.

Cindy—Well, I'm just a wreck from sweeping, doing the washing and one thing and another. I need a change.

M.C.—Don't your stepisters help you?

Cindy—Are you kidding? All they do is run around and grand balls. I'd like to go to a dance sometime.

M.C.—You certainly need a dance and we want to help you. What's stopping you?

Cindy—Well, I need a few things.

M.C.—Tell the TV audience all about it.

Cindy—All I've got to go to a dance is some white mice, a few lizards, a pumpkin and an old calico wrapper. I could use a gown, a coach and eight white horses.

M.C.—And you've tried to get them?

Cindy—I've looked everywhere. Not a gown, coach, or horse any place, not even on the Groucho Marx program.

M.C.—(as phone rings).—Who? Morris Brackenbridge, Passaic, N. J.? You're sending over a gold coach and seven white horses? . . . And the best you can do to make it tight is to send a black one?

Cindy—Oh, that's wonderful. M.C.—What else could you use?

Cindy—I've always wanted a glass slipper.

M.C.—You've asked your sisters repeatedly for a glass slipper, haven't you?

Cindy—Yes. All they ever hand me is another BROOM!

M.C.—(on the phone again).—Who? . . . Chidey Groobish? Canarsie? . . . You're sending a year's supply of BROOMS!!!

Cindy—I guess Mr. Groobish wasn't paying attention. I got brooms. I need glass slippers.

M.C.—(on phone after another interval).—Who? . . . Mrs. Kreevish of Fall River? . . . You want to give Cinderella a power-mower which will solve her grass-clipping problem?

Cindy—I said glass slippers, not grass clippers.

M.C.—Just a minute . . . The Tiptop Shoe Company of Duluth is sending you 50 glass slippers! Cindy—Boy, will Prince Charming have trouble picking up and tracing 49 slippers.

M.C.—Now isn't there something else you need to make you happy?

Cindy—Yes, I hate to leave a ball at the stroke of twelve.

M.C.—Don't you worry about that. The Pugsley Hardware Company will paint the ballroom clock inside out with its hard-finish nonrust paint, so nobody can tell time by it.

Cindy—Oh, thanks so much. M.C.—Just a moment. The Pugsley Company wants to know if it could paint your stepisters inside and out, too?

Cindy—COULD THEY!!

We would like to hear Messrs. Dulles, Bidault and Eden rise some day and reply to a Molotov speech with the Jackie Gleason retort: "One of these days!" . . . The Brinks robbery is to be made into a Hollywood movie . . . The robbers, undetected all these years, will probably be at the preview . . . It is proposed that a bill be passed ending a 1794 treaty with certain Indian tribes giving them $4,000 a year from the government in cotton or calico cloth . . . This has meant as little as a yard per Indian and the modern red man couldn't even clean his auto with that much cloth . . . A bill has been proposed to increase the salary of the Governor of New York to $50,000 a year . . . This is okay by us as we feel that any governor of any state should feel that only TV comedians, crooners and labor chiefs are appreciated . . . Governor Dewey is for starting a TV educational program in New York but warns of the anger of political groups using it for propaganda purposes . . . Gotta be careful the politicians don't get onto the video programs as cowboys, knockabout comedians or teachers in clown suits . . . It has been proposed to the President that honorable and dishonorable discharges or dismissals be granted by the government for the protection of public servants who, as a result of terminated services, may be confused with those bounced for disloyalty or as poor security risks. But in view of the long tendency to cover up outslings by sweetie-pie letters, wouldn't there be politicians who would try to sweeten up even the dismissal of a haddie? For instance, Dear Sir:

Enclosed find your dishonorable discharge with my sincere regrets and all good wishes for your future. You have served many years and worked faithfully for this dishonorable severance and your zeal in attaining it has been conspicuous.

Allow me to say that you are one of the best men ever fired on evidences of untrustworthiness and if I can do anything further for you, do not hesitate to let me know.

THE CUP THAT CHEERS

Robert S. Allen Reports

Administration Will Press For Wire-Tapping

Washington — The Administration has decided to throw its heaviest artillery behind a new drive to pass Attorney Gen. Brownell's long-stalled bill to legalize wire-tapping evidence in espionage cases.

President Eisenhower and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover will personally go to bat for this stymied legislation.

Brownell has been authorized to go before the House Judiciary Committee and to state publicly that the President and Hoover strongly favor the measure in order to strengthen national security safeguards.

This new plan is a big change in Administration tactics on this issue.

Brownell, although author of this bill, has never appeared in its behalf before a congressional committee. Deputy General William Rogers is the only Justice Department official who has done that.

Similarly, the President has not thrown his weight directly behind the legislation. He was known to be for it, but went no further than that. G. B. Hoover has long advocated legalizing wire-tapping in espionage cases, and forcefully supported Brownell's measure at a private meeting with a House Appropriations Subcommittee. But for security reasons, this potent testimony was not made public.

The decision to force action on the bill came after some frank advice by Representative Kenneth Keating (R., N. Y.), chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee that has been considering the legislation since last spring.

Tough Road—Keating bluntly told Brownell that the only hope for a wire-tapping law is determined Administration effort.

"Republican members of my own Committee," Keating said, "can't understand why you have never testified for your own measure. They think that's very odd."

Brownell explained his only reason for not doing that was to avoid being grilled by Democratic committeemen on the cases he plans to prosecute if the legislation is enacted.

Under Brownell's bill, old espionage cases could be revived and tried, chief among them the one against Judith Coplon, whose conviction by a jury was overruled by a higher court. There is strong opposition to this retroactive provision. Also against another major section that vests wire-tapping authority in the Attorney General.

Keating has a bill of his own which would place this control in the federal courts. Also he would limit wire-tapping solely to the FBI.

Brownell stressed one particular point on Keating. This is the importance of winning House approval for the strongest possible measure because of an adverse situation in the Senate Judiciary Committee. Senate GOP leaders have informed Brownell that a private poll disclosed a majority of this Committee is against the Administration's bill and the best that can be hoped for is a watered-down version.

"I've been told," Brownell said, "that there is little chance the Senate will approve any kind of a bill that is retroactive. But if we don't get that authority, we can't retry the Coplon case and another that we feel should be prosecuted. If we have to drop the Coplon case, you can be sure the Democrats will never let us forget it."

Under present plans, Brownell will testify before the House Committee at a private meeting.

Note: As previously disclosed in this column, the Defense Department, Central Intelligence Agency and Federal Communications Commission have notified Representative Keating they want to be included in the authority to tap wires for legal evidence.

Unsuccessful Grab—Two senators killed that astounding bill to give members of Congress hefty pensions at the age of 55 after only 10 years' service.

The axers are Senators John Kennedy, Mass., and Hubert Humphrey, Minn.

They did the hatching in the secrecy of a Senate-House conference committee where the measure was sent to iron out differences between the two chambers preparatory to becoming law. The wrangling behind the locked committee doors was caustic, but Kennedy and Humphrey forced the grab to be dropped.

But if they hadn't blocked it, the "gravy" bill would have been slipped through. The skids were greased and ready for that.

Following is the inside story: Last year the Senate passed a bill to liberalize pensions for employees of Congress. This measure went to the House where it was turned over to the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. That was the last heard of it until the bill suddenly popped up on the House floor—loaded to the gunwales with "gravy."

In the secrecy of that Committee and without a single hearing, the legislation had undergone a far-reaching transformation. Instead of being an employees' bill, it became primarily a pension grab for members of Congress.

In that form the bill went to the House where it was approved without a record vote or a single dissent.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Coffee Prices Soared Despite Fact There Are No Shortages In Stores

When recently I suggested that coffee is too expensive, tea might be used, I also said that if tea becomes costly, we might switch to beer for breakfast.

Whereupon my mail became swollen with anger.

First of all, the milk people set forth the argument that milk, cream, butter and cheese supply the essentials of any breakfast. There can be no two ways about that, provided one enjoys milk, etc. My own objection to milk and milk products is that I like them too rich and too much. Given a free hand at any refrigerator, I can put on 20 or 30 pounds in almost no time. Skimmed milk I do not like.

The Chinese prefer "Chuk" for breakfast. For many years I ate "Chuk," occasionally with cut-up bits of doughnut-like cake. "Chuk," if properly made, is a rice and chicken soup cooked for many hours until it is a thick gruel. When I used to cook it, I would include bits of fresh ginger and lotus hearts.

Some of my correspondents quarreled with me about beer at the breakfast table. My severest critics were those who attributed to me such virtuous perfections as no man should possess. Nevertheless, here is a very early breakfast food, used for centuries before Europeans tried coffee which was propagated by returning Crusaders who encountered the liquid.

"The English House-Wife," published in London in 1649, tells how oatmeal might be used for breakfast:

"Some eat it with honey, which is reputed the best sauce; some with Wine, either Sacke, Claret or White; some with strong Beere or strong Ale, and some with Milke as your ability or the accommodations of the place will administer."

I have never tried beer on oatmeal and suspect that I never shall, but I produce this paragraph from E. Parnallee Prentice's learned book, "Farming for Famine," as evidence that human beings have used beer as a breakfast food. Coffee for breakfast came in some time at the beginning of the 17th Century but was used without milk, as it still is in Oriental countries. In fact, milk was for many centuries dreaded in most parts of Europe and in some parts of Asia is still not used. In China, the curds of the soy bean are preferred even to this day.

I received a letter from one reader complaining bitterly that I was misleading mankind by suggesting tea as a breakfast food when, according to this reader, everybody knows that coffee is "the universal breakfast beverage." How vain can mortals be? More than half the human race uses tea not only for breakfast but as its principal hot beverage. In fact, the entire Soviet Union State is tea-drinking. The Russians have contracted the habit from the Chinese many centuries ago. The caravans that carried tea from Hankow to all the cities of Russia were famed in the days of the Czars and the greatest merchants were those who dealt in tea. Odessa, celebrated for wheat, was also a tea port, as Boston, Philadelphia and New York were at the time of the American Revolution.

In my youth, coffee was cooked, as it is now in some parts of Europe and in New Orleans, with chicory, which fortifies the coffee, making it possible to purchase less expensive brands without losing the flavor. In fact, those who like coffee with chicory care for no other. Out of this brew is made coffee au lait, to mix a couple of languages. This is a delightful beverage which reduces the cost of coffee considerably as half the cup is boiling hot milk. The milk and coffee are poured into the cup simultaneously. Viennese coffee au lait is usually regarded as the best, possibly because the milk is so rich, although I enjoy the New Orleans variety, particularly if fresh doughnuts are dunked in it.

There is one queer thing about the present coffee crisis: while prices are going up because Brazilian coffee bushes suffered a frost there is no shortage of coffee in the stores. If there is no shortage of coffee, why should the price go up? It is difficult to understand the economics of that because generally price reflects the law of supply and demand. Perhaps in the middle of the 20th Century everything is topsy-turvy because politicians not merchants, move the goods that we use.

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: This town is full of plush saloons which began as speakeasies or one-arm sandwich joints, but I suspect none of them had a more lowly beginning than Max Gordon's downstairs hole, the Village Vanguard. The energetic Max started this smart Greenwich Village club almost 20 years ago with a capital of $75, no cabaret license and no liquor license. Customers got only set-ups, sandwiches, coffee and readings of verse by such as Maxwell Bodenheim and assorted major and minor poets. Later, such stars as Judy Holiday, Burl Ives, Richard Dyer Bennett, Josh White, Pearl Bailey, Wally Cox, Eartha Kitt first hit it big in the place. Actually, now it's a showcase for "offbeat" talents, the way the Blue Angel, Le Ruban Bleu and one or two others are.

I have come across the greatest bookshop in the world. It's a little, rundown Eighth Avenue place in the vicinity of Madison Square Garden, and in its fly-speckled window recently were these volumes, all grouped together: Facts About Nudism, Gold-Plated Sin, Police Wrestling, How to Be the Life of the Party, Hypnotism Made Practical, The Nude in the Mirror, Wild Hunger, Ukulele Jigs Song Book (presumably with an extra chapter on humility), Simplified Home Sewing and Hop-along Cassidy. With the Trail Herd. No flower arrangement ever packed the window, or poet's beauty, of that juxtaposition.

When Fred Pattera stages his second annual World Motor Sports show at Madison Square Garden in February, the idea that will intrigue me most is the invention by Alfons Siedenhans of Munich—who has come up with an "alcohol meter" that fits onto a car's dashboard. The driver, before starting his auto, breathes into the meter—and if his breath overpowers it to the point where the needle swings wildly up to "danger," the car will not start. If his breath is "moderately alcoholic," the gadget allows the auto to go 35 miles per hour. I have in mind talking with me to the show a gentleman I know whose breath, I fancy, may make the car go immediately into reverse.

I suspect strongly that Miss Celeste Holm, who is that oddity, a born New Yorker, is slowly nudging Joe E. Lewis to one side as the greatest cafe entertainer of our times (and there's a title!). Miss Holm has been fracturing the customers at the Plaza's Persian Room: of late, and on the days when Dietrich is in California or Connecticut, I should judge Celeste to be the most attractive and fascinating woman in town . . . And that statement should make Vanessa Brown realize just how flexible a man can be.

Tall girls, who were put on earth for the delight of men but often don't realize it, and thus try to scrounge themselves down to more normal heights, should take a tip from Bea Myerson, the 1945 "Miss America," who is 5 feet 10. I talked with Bea before the telecast of her daily show, The Big Payoff, and she told me that after she'd won her title at Atlantic City, one of the judges came over to her and said, "You know what impressed us a lot? You were the tallest girl there—and you made no bones about it. You stood up straight and stately, and didn't even bend your knees once." Thirteen-year-old women who feel gangly and are depressed because of it are advised to follow Miss Bea's example.

Winning that title, incidentally, gave Miss Myerson man trouble. "The boys who used to take me out stopped calling," she said, "because they thought I probably thought I was too glamorous to go back to a neighborhood movie. And the men who did call were just guys who wanted to be seen in some smart place with 'Miss America.'"

Fortunately, along came Allan Wayne, an Army captain, who treated her as just another nice doll—and now, as Mrs. Wayne, Miss Bea has no more problems along those lines.

Agent Hal Matson was with his 4-year-old son when four soldiers passed. The youngster excitedly tugged Hal's sleeve and exclaimed, "Look, Pa! Men Scouts!"

My New York

—by Mel Heimer

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about:

This town is full of plush saloons which began as speakeasies or one-arm sandwich joints, but I suspect none of them had a more lowly beginning than Max Gordon's downstairs hole, the Village Vanguard. The energetic Max started this smart Greenwich Village club almost 20 years ago with a capital of $75, no cabaret license and no liquor license. Customers got only set-ups, sandwiches, coffee and readings of verse by such as Maxwell Bodenheim and assorted major and minor poets. Later, such stars as Judy Holiday, Burl Ives, Richard Dyer Bennett, Josh White, Pearl Bailey, Wally Cox, Eartha Kitt first hit it big in the place. Actually, now it's a showcase for "offbeat" talents, the way the Blue Angel, Le Ruban Bleu and one or two others are.

I have come across the greatest bookshop in the world. It's a little, rundown Eighth Avenue place in the vicinity of Madison Square Garden, and in its fly-speckled window recently were these volumes, all grouped together: Facts About Nudism, Gold-Plated Sin, Police Wrestling, How to Be the Life of the Party, Hypnotism Made Practical, The Nude in the Mirror, Wild Hunger, Ukulele Jigs Song Book (presumably with an extra chapter on humility), Simplified Home Sewing and Hop-along Cassidy. With the Trail Herd. No flower arrangement ever packed the window, or poet's beauty, of that juxtaposition.

When Fred Pattera stages his second annual World Motor Sports show at Madison Square Garden in February, the idea that will intrigue me most is the invention by Alfons Siedenhans of Munich—who has come up with an "alcohol meter" that fits onto a car's dashboard. The driver, before starting his auto, breathes into the meter—and if his breath overpowers it to the point where the needle swings wildly up to "danger," the car will not start. If his breath is "moderately alcoholic," the gadget allows the auto to go 35 miles per hour. I have in mind talking with me to the show a gentleman I know whose breath, I fancy, may make the car go immediately into reverse.

I suspect strongly that Miss Celeste Holm, who is that oddity, a born New Yorker, is slowly nudging Joe E. Lewis to one side as the greatest cafe entertainer of our times (and there's a title!). Miss Holm has been fracturing the customers at the Plaza's Persian Room: of late, and on the days when Dietrich is in California or Connecticut, I should judge Celeste to be the most attractive and fascinating woman in town . . . Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Our mailbox is about a thousand feet away from the house, down a steep hill. I have tried my damndest to get permission from the Post Office Department to have a box put directly in front of the house, but no dice.

They have proven to me by rule and statute that it can't be done, and so, rain or shine, I have to go down and get my mail.

But ever since I slipped on the ice a couple of weeks ago I have been confined to the house. The weather has been so bad that my wife could not even get down with the car, that's how slippery our road was.

But Clinton Smith, our rural mail carrier, heard about my accident; so every morning since then he has gone 2,000 feet out of his way to bring my mail to me.

I have tried to pay him for the extra trip. I have offered him cigars and cigarettes. He wouldn't take anything.

"What kind of a guy would I be," he said, "if I couldn't do that much for a neighbor?"

One day the weather was particularly nauseating. The fog was so thick you couldn't see five feet ahead of you. It had thawed during the night and then it got cold again, so the roads were like skating rinks.

But Clinton Smith came just the same with the mail and a big smile, as usual, on his face.

When I told him how much I appreciated his help, he just said, "Well one third of the winter is gone."

And then he said something else which sort of gave me a warm glow all over.

"The fellows I feel sorry for," he said, "are the ones that have to run the trains in weather like this."

"Take a foggy day like this. These men have to keep up their schedule as best they can. At every intersection they have to whistle, and while there are markers at every crossing, it is impossible for them to see the markers in fog like this."

"But if there is an accident, they get blamed for it. They el-ther get fired or fined. I certainly wouldn't want to be a railroad engineer."

So there you are. Here I was thinking what a tough job Clinton Smith has. I wouldn't want to be a mail carrier for anything. I said to myself:

But Clinton Smith didn't think anything of the toughness of his job. He was sympathizing with the railroad engineers. And I wonder with whom the railroad engineers are sympathizing as they speed along at 50 or 60 miles an hour through fog and snow and rain.

I wonder whom the airplane pilots are pitying as they fly through thunderstorms and cloud-bursts at 300 miles an hour. I wonder of whom the ship captains are thinking as their ships buck 50-mile gales and brave the perils of the ocean, while they are responsible for hundreds of passengers.

Almost any job has its drawbacks and its burdens.

Unfortunately, so many people seem to think that theirs is the toughest of all jobs. The teacher thinks he is underpaid. The minister often feels that he gets no response from his congregation. The doctor, when a patient dies, wants to throw up his whole profession. The hausfrau curses her futile existence when a rake won't rise.

But responsibility isn't everything. Think of yourself in terms of the other fellow whose lot may be much harder than yours.

It is the sum total of the jobs of all of us that make up the world

Four Treated For Injuries After Crash

Mount Pocono—One woman was admitted to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, and three others treated in the dispensary following a 12:15 a.m. accident three miles south of here yesterday.

State police identified the accident victims as Norma Bisha, 27, New York City, suffering a deep cut of the right eye, possible fractured hip and injured right shoulder; Frank Schwartz, 40, Long Island City, N. Y., cuts of the head and leg; Maurice Bonney, 30, New York City, cut right leg, and Maurice Blotkin, 40, Long Island, N. Y., injury to right knee and shoulder.

All were passengers in Schwartz's car which crashed into a tree after skidding on Route 611. Mrs. Bisha was admitted and reported in "good" condition at the hospital last night. The others were discharged after treatment. They were taken to the hospital by an ambulance from the Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna.

Police said Schwartz attempted to pass a car driven by Joseph Schmid, 54, of Mount Pocono, as it was making a turn at Swiftwater.

According to police the Schwartz car glanced off the rear bumper of Schmid's car, then veered off the highway, hitting a tree.

Only slight damage resulted to the Schmid vehicle, but about $600 damages resulted to Schwartz's car.

Snow-Glazed Road Blamed For Accident

Mount Pocono — About $500 damages resulted from a two-vehicle collision on snowy Route 611 four miles north of Tobyhanna at 12:50 a. m. yesterday.

State police from here said a station wagon driven by James McCarthy, 30, Great Neck, N. Y., slid across the highway, crashing into the side of a tractor-trailer truck traveling north. Driving the truck was Stanley Gillen, Scranton.

No personal injuries resulted in the crash. McCarthy's station wagon was damaged about $350, and the Fowler-Williams owned truck, about $150.

Variety Show Tonight To Benefit W. E. Youth Center

Brookheadville—"You Name It!", a variety show sponsored by the Progressive Woman's Club of Saylorsburg, will be given tonight at 8 in Chestnut Hill High School auditorium.

Proceeds from the program will be used to help set up a youth center for teen-agers in western areas of Monroe County and to further civic projects in the community.

If today's weather takes a turn for the worse, the program will be given Thursday night at the school, according to Woman's Club spokesmen.

Headlining the program will be popular songwriter, master-of-ceremonies and musician Tom Waring. Waring will introduce each of the acts, provide special material and encourage audience participation in the show.

All talent on the program is local. Among the acts will be a quartet of teen-agers drafted from Stroudsburg High School's "Jug Band" organization. These members will be presented in a specialty act similar to past performances by the musical group.

Another quartet—this time featuring old-fashioned barber shop harmony—will be made up of members of the West End Lions Club. The Lions and the Woman's Club are co-sponsors of regular teen-age dances in the West End.

Mrs. Grant Knowles will give a special comedy skit during the show and Miss Jackie's dancing school students will provide a dance number. The Possinger square dance band from Tannersville will be in charge of music for dancing.

Tickets will be available at the auditorium door tonight.

Skidding Car Rams Into Side Of Truck

Slippery road conditions were blamed for a two-vehicle accident on Route 12 four miles north of Stroudsburg Monday at 4 p.m.

Stroudsburg state police said a car driven by Joseph T. Green, 40, of Wilmington, Del., skidded on the crest of a hill, crashing into the side of a Bartonville-bound truck operated by Carl Moser, 34, of White Mills.

Total damage was estimated at $600, but no injuries resulted. Police said numerous smaller accidents were reported during the night, all caused by vehicles slid-covered county roads.

Air Reserve Marks First Anniversary

Elmer D. Christine, Monroe County district attorney and state commander for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, spoke on Communion Monday night when Flight D. Air Force Reserve held its first anniversary meeting at the Stroudsburg VFW Home.

Capt. Lester G. Abelloff, commanding officer was in charge. He reported on the recent district meeting in Wilkes-Barre and read a letter from Col. Charles W. Siewie of the First Air District, Harrisburg, noting the superior attitude of the local flight in conjunction with intelligence reports and performance of training acts.

A letter commending the local flight was read from Comm. Ben Stortz, Wilkes-Barre, by Lt. James Gerrity, adjutant. The flight also won the applause of the 9543rd Air Force Squadron for high attainment in attendance and membership.

Twenty-one of the 26 members attended and had a buffet luncheon following the meeting. Committee on arrangements included Capt. L. Krynicky, Sgt. Robert Banks and Lt. R. Wilton.

Even Innocent Judge Tagged At Parking Meter

Suffolk, Va. (AP)—Even judges can get caught by the long arm of the law.

Trial Justice William W. Jones of Nansemond County tells this story on himself:

There were no parking restrictions where he parked his car one day so he left it there for several hours. When he returned he found on his windshield a ticket accusing him of violating the parking meter law.

In the short time his car had been sitting by the curb a parking meter had been installed.

Dr. C. H. Rushmore will be out of town Feb. 11 through Feb. 18.—Adv.

Whitehall Uses Rally To Sink Stroudsburg Quintet, 66-63

Mountaineers Blow Lead Of 12 Points

Stroudsburg High school blew a 12-point lead as high as the price of coffee last night and Whitehall came from far back to grind out a 66-63 Lehigh Valley League basketball victory over the Mountaineers, in the W. Main St. gymnasium.

Tom Lukish, lanky sharpshooter, brought Whitehall from the rear with a brilliant demonstration in the last portion of the third quarter and throughout the final round, although he was plagued with four personals almost throughout the second half.

Stroudsburg, playing probably its best basketball of the current campaign, vaulted into a 42-30 lead

TWO POINTS—Dave Nevil (13) is shown just after launching a shot that resulted in a field goal for Stroudsburg in the last seconds of the second quarter last night. The two points were the result of a brilliant passing play from Karl Weingartner (7) to Don Garaventi (4) to Nevil. Connie Weiser (11) is the Whitehall cager identified above. The Zephyrs went on to score a 66-63 victory.

midway in the third quarter and appeared well on its way to an easy victory as each member of the first five joined in the chase.

But, Lukish and Company began to eat into the lead late in the third period and trailed by only two points going into the home stretch, 48-46.

Lukish personally tied the count in the early seconds of the final round with a layup shot. Don Garaventi converted a foul to make it 49-48 in favor of the Mountaineers and the lead see-sawed back and forth the remainder of the distance, with never more than five points separating the hard fighting foes.

The count was tied at 55-55 and again at 58-58. Dave Nevil hit from the side to give Stroudsburg a 60-58 advantage and Karl Weingartner, brilliant in all departments, hit from the foul line to make the score 61-58.

Lukish, playing as if fed with ice water, got two points back with a pair of foul conversions and Connie Weiser put the Zephyrs in front with a field goal, 62-61. This was the first time in the second half that the visiting machine was able to hold a lead.

Nevil fouled out of the ball game at this point, with one minute and 10 seconds remaining, and Dick Keiser put the Zephyrs in front almost at the same instant with a long shot, 65-61. Doug Shook, newly inserted in the lineup, drove in for a field goal to make the score 65-63 with 38 seconds left. Whitehall froze the ball the remainder of the distance and Keiser connected on a foul toss to cement the victory.

Whitehall led at the end of the first period, 17-12, but Stroudsburg got in the groove late in the second round to finish on the long end of the count at halftime, 29-28. The Mountaineers held a 17-11 advantage in the second round.

Stroudsburg made good on 17 of 31 foul shots, while Whitehall converted 18 of 36 shots from the same distance. The Zephyrs also held a 24-23 edge in field goals.

Weingartner and Nevil led the Stroudsburg attack with 27 points each, while Lukish, with 22 counters, was the big gun for Whitehall.

Boston (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced their first cut in the 1954 roster yesterday with the optioning of outfielder Gene Stephens to the Louisville farm club in the American Association.

Light Hitter
The 21-year-old Stephens hit only 204 in 78 games with the Sox last year before being sent to Louisville where he hit only 10 points higher in 30 games.

The Sox also announced signing of Hector "Skinny" Brown, a right-handed hurler who posted an 11-6 mark last season.

Cornig Names Pilot
Cornig, N. Y. (AP) — Warren Robinson was named manager of the Corning Red Sox in the class "D" Pony Baseball League yesterday. He was manager of the Salisbury, N. C. club in the Tarheel League last year.

Phillipsburg Parochial Nips Bangor Girls

Bangor (AP) — Phillipsburg, N. J. — Bangor High's girls' basketball team went down to its third straight defeat here yesterday when Phillipsburg Parochial scored a 53-34 decision over the Slaters.

Marcia Heard tried desperately to turn the tide in favor of the Bangor contingent with a total of 21 points, on nine goals from the floor and three from the foul line. In all, five members of the Bangor club broke into the scoring column.

Fine Performance
Phillipsburg's victory was made possible through the brilliant shooting ability of Boyle, who registered 33 markers, on 14 field goals and five free throws. Four members of the Parochial club took care of the scoring for the winning aggregation.

The host team held the upper hand all the way, but Bangor wasn't far off the pace until late in the second half, when Boyle's brilliant play proved too much for the Slaters.

Mary DeCesare was the number two scorer for Bangor, while Miller was next in line for Phillipsburg. DeCesare came up with 10 counters, while Miller registered 11.

Cheyney's Height Tops ESSTC, 82-77

Cheyney — A towering Cheyney basketball team used its advantage in height to score an 82-77 basketball victory over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College last night, here on the winning club's home court.

The loss was the eighth in 11 games for the Warriors and broke their only winning streak of the season at two straight.

Jim Parker, six foot, six inch center and third leading scorer in the Philadelphia area, led his mates to victory with a brilliant performance that resulted in 32 points, on 12 goals from the floor and an eight-for-eight showing from the foul line.

"Cas" Lonesome, with 19 tallies, also played a major role in the Cheyney victory.

Upper Hand
The host contingent held the upper hand in all but the second quarter, as it jumped into a 22-19 advantage at the end of the first quarter and a 40-38 edge at halftime. ESSTC had the better of the going in the second stanza, 19-18.

Cheyney came back to make certain victory in the second half, although the outcome of the contest was in doubt right up until the last few seconds of play.

The host cagers had the better of the going in the third round, 21-20, and made certain of victory with a 21-19 edge in the fourth stanza.

ESSTC made good on 25 of 41 shots from the foul line, while Cheyney hit on 24 of 31 tosses from the same distance.

Brooklyn (AP) — Carl Erskine, who set a record of 14 strikeouts in the 1953 World Series, signed his 1954 Brooklyn baseball contract yesterday.

Salary terms were not disclosed but the 27-year-old right-hander is believed to have received a substantial increase over his reported $18,000 salary of last year. The 1954 figure probably is close to $25,000.

Erskine became the 29th Dodger to come to terms, leaving first baseman Gil Hodges as the only Dodger regular not signed.

Four Others
Four other National League clubs—the Milwaukee Braves, New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies also announced signings yesterday, along with the Detroit Tigers.

The Braves' number one catcher, Del Crandall, came to terms for a reported $15,000 while the veteran catcher released by Milwaukee, Walker Cooper, signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Reports
Reports that a deal was under way in which Kluszewski, who hit 40 homers last season, would be sold to the New York Giants, caused Paul to issue the statement.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Today's bit of chit-chat deals with round two of the heavy-weight battle between the Pocono Mountains Basketball League and Getz's Harmony Five, once a member of the circuit. The league was given an opportunity to get in its punches during the first round in a story carried in this section on Monday. Today, Clinton Getz, sponsor of the Harmony Five and president of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, receives an opportunity to take his verbal swings at the opposition.

During a telephone conversation with this reporter on Monday night, Getz pointed out that his team isn't the villain that members of the basketball circuit would have us all believe. He pointed out that although his team was blamed for the rough game with I. B. Miller last Saturday, on the Coolbaugh High court, the score book kept by the Harmony Five reveals that the Miller Builders committed 18 personal fouls during the contest, while the Harmony Five was guilty of 15.

Getz went on to point out that his eagles have committed fewer fouls than the opposition in the last four games and in a recent clash with West End were charged with only six personal fouls. He was also quick to point out that none of his players receive pay, a charge that has been leveled in the direction of the Harmony Five on several occasions. Clint points out that his players are strictly non-professional and with the exception of the coaches the club averages 19 years-of-age.

It was charged by the Pocono Mountains League that players making up the Harmony Five play in several leagues and thus make scheduling games a tough proposition. Getz denied this charge and pointed out that his players do play now and then in independent games, but are not members of any regular circuits, except the Pocono Mountains League. That is—prior to last Sunday. As far as not having paid the team's entrance fee until a late date and failing to present the player roster at the correct time, Getz had this to say:

"The Harmony Five has never had any written instructions as to what to do with entrance fees or rosters, but rather everything has been carried on verbally, contrary to the action of most organized leagues." He also pointed out that "not once since the Harmony Five was a member of the league has the club received any written information as far as meetings are concerned, such as time and place. Getz argued that the league was so loosely run that his club had difficulty keeping up with its actions and plans, both future and present.

Getz went on to explain that the Harmony Five wasn't represented at last Sunday's league shaping meeting because the club wasn't notified that there was to be a gathering until 12:15 p.m. The meeting was scheduled for Johnson's Diner, Stroudsburg, at 2 p.m. This didn't allow Getz time enough to obtain a representative for his club at the gathering, as he himself was bound to attend a meeting of Pocono Mountains Baseball League Officials, at the Lake Harmony Hotel. The Harmony Five was the only club not represented at the gathering.

As far as being one-half hour late for Saturday's tussle was concerned, Getz made it known that one of the cars carrying players ran into a ditch and it took time to get the automobile back on the road once again. The sponsor of the Harmony Five feels that being banished from the Pocono Mountains League was unfair to say the least. Getz said during the conversation that it isn't true that all the teams in the circuit voted his club out of the standings and feels that if the various representatives knew all the facts his team would be asked to rejoin the circuit.

Getz went further to stress that he wasn't continually trying to change the schedule for the good of his team as charged, but rather was attempting to point out the weak spots of the schedule so as to benefit each of the teams and the league in general. The Lake Harmony resident pointed out the number of times the schedule has been changed this season, maintaining that this showed a weakness in itself. Any discussions on the schedule made by the Lake Harmony team weren't meant to benefit that club alone, Getz wanted stressed.

Well, there it is. Both sides of the argument exposed to the public to the best ability of this reporter. Both sides have their supporters and many words have been bantered back and forth. As of this writing the Harmony Five is no longer a member of the Pocono Mountains League, but future occurrences may change the situation, as there is a strong possibility of another league meeting. It's one of those problems needing lots of discussion and some time to settle.

Coolbaugh Decisions Barrett In County League, 61-45

Half-Game Separates Two Flag Rivals

Tobyhanna — Coolbaugh High scored a 61-45 basketball victory over Barrett here last night before the largest crowd to ever see a Monroe County League game in the Coolbaugh gymnasium.

The victory enabled the green and white clad charges of Coach Don Wisner to pull within one-half game of league-leading Barrett, as the latter suffered its initial setback after eight straight victories. Coolbaugh is now sporting a record of seven favorable decisions in eight outings.

A jam-packed crowd, one that made so much noise that it was impossible to hear the official whistle at times, watched Coolbaugh, shooting for its initial championship since 1940, roared into a 17-5 lead at the end of the first eight minutes of action.

The scoring tempo dropped off to a whisper in the second quarter, Barrett had the better of the going, 7-5, but Coolbaugh clung to a 22-12 advantage at the midway point.

Francis Yakita, Coolbaugh center who was held without a field goal in an earlier game with Barrett, led his mates to 19 points in the third period, while Barrett could account for only 10. The visiting pupils of Coach Joe Murray faced a 41-22 deficit going into the last round.

Roger Roan, held to six points in the first three periods, caught fire for Barrett in the final stanza and racked up 18 points, while Stan Cheslock tossed home two field goals, as the blue and white clad Barrett club fought back in the face of great odds.

Barrett's 23-20 margin in the final eight minutes of action wasn't nearly enough to turn the tide of battle.

Yakita and Bob Sapp led the winning Coolbaugh offensive, with 20 and 17 points respectively, while the remainder of the club reportedly came up with its finest game of the campaign.

Roan again led the attack for Barrett, racking up a total of 24 counters.

Barrett won the junior varsity clash between the two schools, 47-10.

PIAA To Use Palestra

Harrisburg (AP) — The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association yesterday selected the University of Pennsylvania Palestra in Philadelphia as the site for the class "A" state final basketball game.

The championship contest, set for Saturday, March 27, has been held at the Palestra the last four years and 12 times in the last 16. The site has been in Philadelphia for all of the last 16 years.

The PIAA announcement did not indicate whether the final will be televised for the second time in history. Mark N. Funk, executive director of the PIAA, indicated a decision on television will not be made until later this month. The game was televised over a four station network last March.

Regionals

The PIAA fixed the Hershey Arena, Hershey and the University of Pittsburgh Field House, Pittsburgh for the eastern and western regional class "A" finals. Preliminary regional playoff games will be played at the Palestra, Farrell High school and the Johnstown War Memorial on March 20. The final regionals are set for March 24.

No sites for class "B" or "C" games are fixed in advance of the playoffs by the PIAA because the schools involved usually determine what the site will be. However, the class "B" final is to be played in the east this year and the class "C" final in the west in keeping with the PIAA's policy of alternating the games yearly.

Little League Meeting

Carl E. Stolz, commissioner of Little League baseball, will highlight an area Little League meeting at East Stroudsburg Junior High school today, at 7:30 p. m. Anyone wishing to attend the affair is welcome, including all mothers.

Grand Theater, Poconos In Action Today

Grand Theater and the Stroudsburg Poconos, both members of the Blue Mountain Basketball League, are scheduled for cage wars tonight, on foreign fronts.

The Grand Theater team plays at Belvidere, while the Poconos battle Nazareth, on the latter's home court.

In each case action gets underway at 8 p. m.
Coach Walt Stem's Grand Theater lineup will probably feature Harold "Hair" Staples and Ray Mery at the forward slots and Ray Steele, center, Jack Boushell and Russ Staples will probably man the guard positions.

Starters

The Poconos, coached by Tom Shiffer, will probably answer the starting whistle with Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman and Henry "Hank" Stetler at the forward positions, while "Big John" Possinger handles the center duties. Jim "Beesley" Smith, Tom Somers and Paul "Muff" Warnick will share the guard slots.

Jack Mullins, business manager of the Poconos, announced last night that the Poconos-Belvidere contest postponed on Monday, will be played Friday, at Stroudsburg High's gymnasium.

It's made with Platinum

Atlantic Premium—a new name and a new gasoline

This gasoline is the result of a different refining process, developed through Atlantic research. The precious metal, platinum, is the key material in this process.

Because of platinum refining, Atlantic Premium has extremely high anti-knock properties.

This is important to you for it means exceptionally smooth combustion and that, in turn, means exceptional power and performance.

This new gasoline is ready for you now at the ATLANTIC PREMIUM pump. Won't you try it?

keeps your car on the go

Why does Atlantic use one of the world's most precious metals—PLATINUM—in refining its new PREMIUM gasoline?

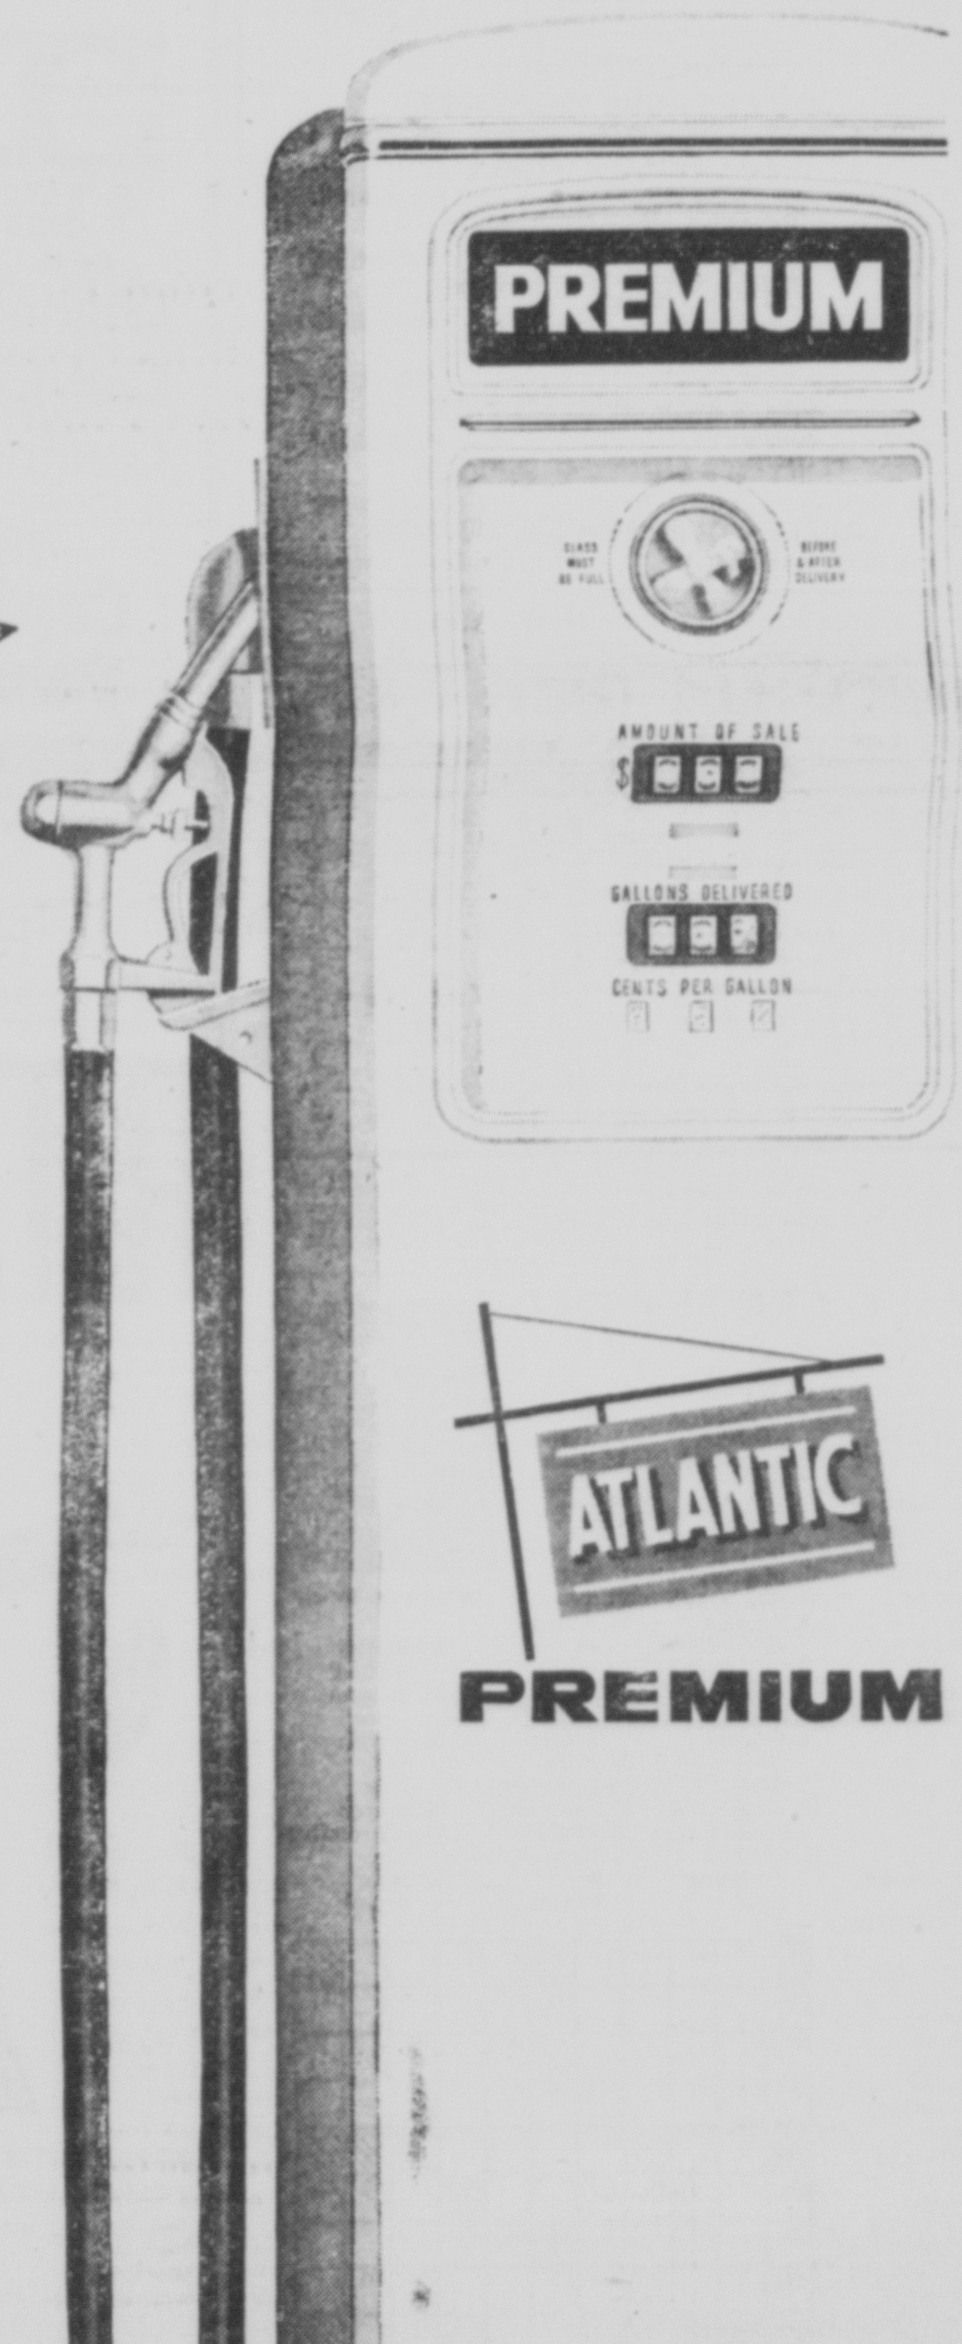

In Atlantic's patented Catforming process*, platinum is used as a catalyst.

A catalyst is a material that promotes chemical reactions. Atlantic's platinum catalyst helps change ordinary gasoline into high octane or high anti-knock gasoline better than any other known catalyst.

That's the reason why new ATLANTIC PREMIUM gasoline is made with platinum.

Milton Bacon To Address Treat Club

Natural curiosity is an important driving force in the lives of great men, according to Milton Bacon, well-known philosopher-humorist who will address Dutch Treat Club Thursday night.

Bacon—a man with his share of curiosity—has made a name for himself during two decades on radio across the country. His stories earned national recognition as one of radio's top raconteurs.

Two of his programs were long-time favorites on the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The humorist will address Dutch Treaters at a regular meeting scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the Penn Stroud Hotel. Dinner is served first.

Milton Bacon

The flesh of dolphins formerly was considered a delicacy and had the further advantage in Catholic countries of being considered fish that could be eaten on fast days.

Fire Occurs At Sawmill

Newfoundland — A fire, which broke out when workmen were starting a diesel engine at the Newfoundland Lumber company's sawmill at Hemlock Grove Monday morning, was quickly smothered before it could spread to the mill proper.

The Greene-Dreher volunteer fire company truck, which responded to the call, stood by until it was certain that the danger of the blaze breaking out again was past.
